BEAUTY OF JEWESSES.—It is related that Chateaubriand, on returning from his Eastern travels, was asked if he could assign a reason why the women of the Jewish race were so much handsomer than the men, when he gave the following: "Jewesses," he said, "have escaped the curse which alighted upon their husbands, fathers, and sons. Not a Jewess was to be seen among the crowd of priests and rabble who insulted the Son of God, scourged him, crowned him with thorns, and subjected him to infamy and the agony of the cross. The women of Judea believed in the Saviour, and assisted and soothed him under affliction. A woman of Bethany poured on his head precious ointment, which she kept in alabaster vases. The sister anointed his feet with perfumed oil, and wiped them with her hair.
Christ, on his part, extended mercy to the Jewesses. He raised from the dead the son of the widow of Nain, and Martha's brother, Lazarus. He cured Simon's mother-in-law and the woman who touched his garment. To the Samaritan woman he was a spring of living water, and a compassionate judge to the woman of adultery. The daughters of Jerusalem wept over him; the holy women accompanied him to Calvary—brought him balm and spices—weeping, saw him at the sepulchre. 'Woman! why weepst thou?' His first appearance after the Resurrection was to Mary Magdalen. He said to her, 'Mary!' At the sound of his voice Mary Magdalen's eyes were opened, and she answered, 'Master!' The reflection of some beautiful ray must have rested on the brow of Jewesses."

ORIGIN OF GREAT MEN.—St. Andrew, apostle, was the son of a fisherman; St. John was also the son of a fisherman; Pope Sixtus V. was the son of a swine-herd—he was also one; Aristotle, a doctor; Boccaccio, a merchant; Columbus, a wool-comber; John Bast, of a fisherman; Diderot, of a cutter; Cook, of a servant; Hampden, of a carpenter; Talm, of a dentist; Gesner, of a bookseller; Salvator Rosa, of a surveyor; Euripides, of a fruit-woman; Virgil, of a baker; Horace, of a denizier; Voltaire, of a tax collector; Lamotte, of a hatter; Fletcher, of a chandler; Massillon, of a turner; Tamerlane, of a shepherd; Quinault, of a baker; Rollin, of a cutter; Moliere, of an upholsterer; Rousseau, of a watchmaker; Sir Samuel Bowditch, of a silversmith; Ben Johnson, of a mason; Shakespeare, of a butcher; Sir Lawrence, of a custom house officer; Collins, of a hatter; Gray, of a notary; Beattie, of a laborer; Sir Edward Sugden, of a barber; Thomas Moore, of a sword-maker; Rembrandt, of a miller; Benjamin Franklin, of a chandler; Cardinal Wolsey, of a butcher; Napoleon, of a lawyer.

ON BORES.—The papers are printing a card to the public, from a lawyer in West Virginia.
He touchingly remarks, and the public are sorry to know it, that for eight months he has been acting as State's Attorney, but at the end thereof, he was removed "because he bored the President of the Court!" And has it come to this, that a Commonwealth's Attorney, a man learned in the law, cannot bore a judge, without being turned adrift? And we call this a free country! Why the next thing we shall hear, is that a vestry is trying to dismiss a preacher because he bores them. What, bore a vestry and a clergyman! Forbid it, all ye powers. For what is to become of the bores, when they are dismissed from legislatures, from court houses, from churches, from society? Whither are they to turn? Lucky thought, there is the press. Let them turn editors and bore the public. But if some misanthropic reader should exclaim, "we have quite enough of such bores already," we have nothing to reply, but sorrowfully to ask "what is to become of the bores then?"—Southern Churchman.

A HARD HIT.—The Springfield (Mass.) Republican indulges in the following hit at the expense of the sovereigns of one of the Connecticut districts:

"In sending back Mr. Starkweather to get more appropriations for their navy yard, barber, fort, river, etc., the New Londoners are true to the thrifty traditions of the land of lignous outcrops and baseword pumpkin seeds.
Their conduct reminds us, as the instructive Mr. Barlow would say, of an anecdote. It was a case of mysterious disappearance. The head of the family had been missing for weeks.
Finally, some of the neighbors found him in a mill-pond, full of luxurious balm. The 'demonium weed' body—eels and all—was taken to the bored widow, and the mournful inquiry made. What shall be done with him? If there was sadness in her eye, there was business in her heart, as she said, 'Take out the eels, and set him again.' Now London has taken out the eels and set Mr. Starkweather again."

THE Washington Republican prints a facsimile of the signature of Mr. New, the recently-appointed U. S. Treasurer. How in the world, says the Baltimore American, Mr. New could have studied up such a combination of involved and labyrinthine lines, and at the same time devoted time enough during his less than fifty years of life to accumulating the handsome fortune of which he is possessed, is a deeper mystery than the signature. If we reason by analogies, it might be said that as a thousand years would be required for any man to decipher the tangle, so the man who invented it must have been born so long ago that he might have taken flying matches with the perodactyl. Mr. New can go down to posterity as the great chirographist of this or any other age. The next issue of greenbacks bearing his signature will be a curiosity.

THIRTEEN railroads in Illinois are in the hands of receivers, embracing 2,287 miles of road, the total indebtedness of which is about $64,435,921, or nearly $30,000 a mile. This is the result, it is stated, of one year of grange legislation. These same roads owe the State $121,544 for taxes, which they are not able to pay, besides about ten times as much to counties, cities and municipalities. At this rate the people have cunningly chiselled themselves out of about $14,000,000 in taxes—for they will have to make up the amount which these railroads are unable to pay—besides bankrupting about half the railroads in Illinois.

J. H. ZEILIN & CO.,
Macon, Ga., and Philadelphia.

The symptoms of Liver Complaint are uneasiness and pain in the side. Sometimes the pain is in the shoulder, and is mistaken for rheumatism. The stomach is affected with loss of appetite and sickness, bowels in general constive, sometimes alternating with lax. The head is troubled with pain, and dull, heavy sensation, considerable loss of memory, accompanied with painful sensation of having left under something which ought to have been done. Often complains of weakness, debility, and low spirits. Sometimes many of the above symptoms attend the disease, and at other times very few of them; but the liver is generally the organ most involved.

Nearly all diseases originate from Indigestion and Torpidity of the Liver, and relief is always anxiously sought after. If the Liver is regulated in its action, health is almost invariably secured. Want of action in the Liver causes Headache, Constipation, Jaundice, Pain in the Shoulders, Cough, Chills, Dizziness, Sour Stomach, bad taste in the mouth, bilious attacks, painful, bad taste in the mouth, depression of spirits, or the blues, and a hundred other symptoms, for which SIMMONS' LIVER REGULATOR is the best remedy that has ever been discovered. It acts mildly, effectually, and being a simple vegetable compound, can do no injury in any quantities that it may be taken. It is harmless in every way; it has been used for 40 years, and hundreds of the good and great from all parts of the country will vouch for its being the purest and best.

The Clergy.
"My wife and self have used the Regulator for years, and testify to its great virtues."—Rev.
J. R. Felder, Perry Ga.

Ladies' Endorsement.
"I have given four medicines through trial, and in no case has it failed to give full satisfaction."—Ellen Meacham, Chatsahoochee, Fla.
